

Martin 242 Class Sails Price List

UK Sailmakers Northwest is proud of its long history of success with the Martin 242 class. As our primary regional one design keel boat class, our sails have been instrumental in many club, fleet and class championship campaigns. From Dacron to Pentex to the speed + longevity leader Tape-Drive, our designs will help you maximize your boat's performance potential across all conditions. The sails maintain fast shape even though drastic changes to the rig to suit changing wind pressure.

Besides continuous design refinements, UK Sailmakers Northwest is also involved in considerable sponsorship of the M242 fleet's favorite local regattas including Cow Bay and RIPS.

Tape Drive is a two part construction process in which the structural strength of the sail and the skin that defines the sail's 3D shape are separate elements. In this process, Tape Drive marries a grid of high strength, low stretch Tapes - the structural strength - to a 3D shaped membrane - the "skin" - made up of broad seamed crosscut laminate panels. The grid carries the primary structural loads of the sail, while the skin produces aerodynamic shaping. The tapes radiate across the sail with a heavier concentration at the computer predicted high load areas.

Martin 242 see-through Tape-Drive sails offer unprecedented visibility for driver and crew of the race course, your competition and your sail trim. Our glass load tapes have proved durable and will last many seasons without special handling.
